WESTMORELAND COUNTY BAN ON TAKING OF PICTURES IN COURT HOUSE IS UPHELD

Pittsburgh (AP)—U. S. District Judge Wallace S. Gourley today upheld a Westmoreland County ban on the taking of photographs in the courthouse.

Judge Gourley ruled the lower court has the right to forbid the use of cameras in courtrooms and their vicinity during trials. He said the court has a duty to protect the privacy of an accused person. Judge Gourley added:

Attorney Says Dio Dispenser Of Protection

Washington (AP)—A Brooklyn lawyer testified today that racketeer Johnny Dio sold "protection" through a union contract to automobile glass dealers in the New York area.

Stanley Lehrér, attorney for the Auto Glass Dealers Association of Greater New York, told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee he sat in on the negotiations. He said Dio guaranteed the 150 association members they would have no further labor troubles if they signed up with Local 227 of the old United Auto Workers Union AFL.

Lehrer said at least 60 per cent of the shops are one-man or two-man operations, in which the owners hire no employees, but that they had to join the union anyway and pay monthly fees and dues to both the union and Dio's Equitable Research Corp.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, called it a "sweet" (Turn to Page Eight)

Warmer Weather Is Reported in Store For Eastern Area

By The Associated Press
Warmer temperatures were in the works today from the central Plains to the western Great Lakes but cool Canadian air still held away over the rest of the eastern half of the nation.

Generally fair skies covered the East except in Texas, Georgia and Florida, where a stubborn pattern of thundershowers continued.

Scattered thundershowers were expected later in the day from the Dakotas to the West Coast and in the central and southern Rocky Mountains and Plateau regions.

A mass of cool Canadian air hovering over Pennsylvania early today dropped temperatures into the 30s in some areas.

Clear skies and sunshine generally accompanied the coolness, giving Pennsylvanians some of the most pleasant weather of the summer.

And the outlook was for continued sunny and cool weather.

The forecast for tonight was clear and quite chilly, with the temperature near freezing in the mountains and in the low 40s elsewhere.

Wednesday temperatures were expected to be slightly higher.

Guardsmen Swing Into First Week of Annual Field Training

Release from the public information officer, 112th Infantry Regiment, National Guard, Indian-town Gap Military Reservation:

Units of northwestern Pennsylvania's 112th Infantry Regiment, Pa. National Guard, have swung into their first week of field training at Indian-town Gap Military Reservation after a weekend of intensive preparations.

Twenty companies, comprising some 1,750 officers and men, will be spending their full time as soldiers at this sprawling military post outside Harrisburg until Saturday, Aug. 17.

Arriving here Saturday by train, bus and road convoy, the troops devoted long hours over the weekend to preparation for the full training schedules ahead of them.

Barracks were scrubbed until wooden floors almost glistened; K. P.'s went on duty as mess halls serving more than 5,000 meals a day; and a formal guard

"The constitutional right of the accused to a public trial is a privilege intended for his benefit. It does not entitle the press to take advantage of his involuntary exposure to picture his plight."

The federal jurist also found that "pictures in the courtroom are repugnant to the high standards of judicial decorum and may prove an opening wedge to a gradual deterioration of the judicial process."

Judge Gourley dismissed an argument of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune-Review, which have been fighting the ban for several years, that the ban was contrary to the first freedom of the press and 14th due process of law amendments to the U. S. Constitution.

Seven newspapermen of the two newspapers deliberately violated the ban in December, 1954, when John Wesley Wable was sentenced to death for a slaying on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The newspapers directed photographers to take pictures of Wable after he had left the courtroom. The pictures were taken in a hallway on a floor below the one on which the courtroom is located. Decomposed Bodies of Infants Found in Erie

Erie (AP)—The decomposed bodies of two infants were found last night stuffed in a metal bread box of a Greyhound Bus terminal locker.

Dr. John Fust, Hammond Hospital pathologist, said a preliminary examination showed the babies appeared fully-developed infants, possibly twins.

Dr. Fust said they probably died shortly after birth. He said it would be impossible to determine whether the children were alive when placed in the locker until a laboratory test is completed.

A Greyhound employee, making a routine inspection of lockers for unclaimed baggage, discovered the bodies and notified the terminal manager.

On Wednesday, the final date of inspection, troopers will give bus operator examinations from 10 until 3 p. m.

Ed Stokes Demonstrates His New Mechanical Arms

Ed Stokes of Youngsville was in the Times-Mirror office this morning demonstrating his new mechanical arms which he has had but a week. Sitting with him is wife, Mabel, without whom he admits he could not have managed. It is hoped that in the near future Ed will become adept enough to perform many of the simple tasks by himself, and he has already shown much headway in this short time.

Ten-to-one. That was the laconic statement this morning of Ed Stokes as he demonstrated his new mechanical arms which he received a week ago. "For every single movement you make with your arm, I have to make ten with mine," Ed stated. The crippled man who lost both his forearms in a saw accident nine months ago was showing the laborious processes he must go through in order to perform a task as simple for most as picking up a car key properly and placing it in an ignition switch.

It was October 28, 1956 when Ed Stokes, feeding lumber into a timber saw, was pushed into the teeth of the blade and swung around, losing both his arms above the elbow. Since then, the courage of Mr. Stokes has been taken to heart by Warren County and other nearby residents to have contributed to a fund now totaling more than $6,000.

Recently a $10 check was received for the Stokes Fund from Lloyd G. Albaugh of 210 Alexander street in Warren, and other amounts not previously listed are: Royal Neighbors of America $2 and Brent Bentley Post, American Legion Auxiliary in Kinzua $5.

As ever, Ed Stokes displayed a healthy, confident outlook toward his future with mechanical arms. His wife, Mabel, without whom he admits he could not have made it, is a constant aid.

For Ed, who will be 40 years old August 27th, life will not just be beginning. It will be beginning again.

The blue-eyed, reddish-haired individual had already had enough trouble by the time his arms were severed. Some years ago an accidental bullet wound had partially crippled one leg. Now Ed must learn to do everything all over again.

The simplest tasks such as dressing still cannot be performed easily. (Turn to Page Eight)

Student Policemen In New York Wage War on Youth Crime

New York (AP)—The city's 600 student policemen start pounding beats tonight on shadowy streets where youth crime is most likely to erupt.

The emergency move was ordered yesterday after a hastily called meeting of city and state officials. They met to plan a counter-attack against a recent rash of juvenile crime.

There have been three killings and a series of beatings and brawls involving teen-agers in the past 11 days.

The young rookies will be armed with nightsticks and pistols. Each rookie's beat will be linked with two others manned by experienced patrolmen.

The rookies are going into battle in such potentially dangerous areas as the Red Hook section of Brooklyn and Washington Heights in Manhattan. They will walk their beats from 6 to 12 p. m.—the critical hours for teen-age violence.

The rookies are probationary patrolmen enrolled at the police academy. They were sworn in last June 28.

Dilworth Plugged For Gubernatorial Candidate in 1958

Pittsburgh (AP)—Democratic party leaders today continued laying the groundwork in a drive to increase the number of registered Democrats in Pennsylvania.

Their efforts, aimed at piling up more votes in the November elections, came amid reports that Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia is being plugged for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1958.

Some of the party's top men were in Pittsburgh yesterday and Sharon last night to show party workers how to get more Democratic registrations.

The meetings were the first in a series of "workshops" scheduled throughout the state.

The Republicans have set up a similar series of meetings for next month.

On hand for yesterday's meetings were Gov. Leader, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, State Sen. Joseph M. Barr, the state Democratic chairman, and James Finnegan, head of the party's registration drive and secretary of the commonwealth.

At a news conference in Pittsburgh earlier, Leader declined to say whether he had any specific persons in mind as gubernatorial material.

Leader added that he has no plans for next year—his last year as governor. The governor, who cannot succeed himself, was asked about report he may go into welfare work when his term expires.

Huge Sum Is Slashed From Finance Bill

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee slashed $279,158,380 from a supplemental money bill today and told the Air Force not to make its new academy "a monument to governmental extravagance."

It approved $1,581,590,587 of the $1,860,748,967 President Eisenhower had requested for miscellaneous programs, mainly for military construction.

Included in the total approved was 12½ millions of the 35 millions requested for a new Washington airport at nearby Burke, Va., a project fought bitterly by both Maryland and Virginia senators.

The committee cut $8,332,000 from the $29,169,000 requested for construction at the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. It expressed dissatisfaction over "the evident lack of concern for most factors."

Some contracts have been let at costs as much as three times original estimates, it said.

The steady increase in air traffic into and out of Washington, the committee said, makes it imperative that the area have a new airport by 1960. The estimated over-all cost of the proposed new airport at Burke is 60 million dollars. The committee said the full construction cost will be amortized over "a reasonable number of years, thereby costing the taxpayers nothing."

For military construction, the committee recommended $5,521,500,000 of the $1,764,500,000 requested.

Great and Humble Bow In Tribute to Senator

Vienna, Ga., (AP)—Former Sen. Walter F. George was buried in a sun-dappled cemetery yesterday while the great and the humble bowed in tribute to a man who did much for peace in a troubled world.

A delegation of congressmen, an ambassador and a governor joined with hundreds of Georgia friends at the brief interment service.

The tenant farmer's son who spent 34 years in the Senate and became special ambassador to NATO was eulogized as "a great and good man . . . who loved truth."

Those were the words of the Rev. L. C. Cuts during the simple funeral services in the red brick First Baptist church.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, was present as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

12th Anniversary Of Atomic-Bombing Marked by Program

Hiroshima, (AP)—Hiroshima Mayor Tabao Watanabe called for abolition of nuclear weapons and an end of their testing today, the 12th anniversary of the atomic bombing of his city.

Some 20,000 persons assembled in Peace Memorial Park for the annual ceremony. Standing before the white stone cenotaph built on the spot where the bomb exploded, Watanabe said in a proclamation: "It is only a foolish illusion to try to maintain peace by the might of possessing atom and hydrogen bombs and experimenting with them."

As he concluded at 8:15 a. m.—the time the American B29 dropped the bomb Aug. 6, 1945—sirens and temple bells signaled the start of a minute of silent prayer and the release of 700 pigeons.

SIX DIE IN CRASH
Monroe, La., (AP)—A grandfather, his three sons and two grandchildren were killed yesterday when their plane crashed in an empty field. The single engine aircraft apparently stalled and dove into the soft earth, almost burying itself. Only a piece of the tail was visible. The plane left Little Rock, Ark., earlier in the day. The group was to land at Monroe and proceed to Bastrop for a family reunion.

Auto Duel!

Jealousy, she said.—(NEA Telephoto).

Sylvania Electric Announces Hike in Hourly Wage Rate

Hourly employees at the several plants of Sylvania Electric Products Inc. in Warren will receive a two cent per hour cost-of-living increase in wages effective as of July 29, it was announced yesterday by Richard J. Schumacher, personnel manager of the company's electronic components plant here. He added that salaried employees will receive a $4 per month increase in wages in line with the same adjustment.

Mr. Schumacher explained that the increases are based on the latest Consumer Price Index published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor. He said that an escalator clause in a company-wide wage policy will benefit all of Sylvania's more than 29,000 hourly and salary employees.

In making this announcement, Mr. Schumacher reaffirmed the fact that Warren and other Sylvania hourly employees will also receive a five-cent to eight-cent general wage increase on September 1, as announced some months ago.

He said the company's salaried employees will receive a three per cent annual wage boost effective the same date.

"This will make the eighth consecutive year in which Sylvania employees will have received wage increase," Mr. Schumacher said.

Founder of Cosmetics Business Dies at 91

Montclair, N. J., (AP)—William A. Woodbury, founder of a multi-million-dollar cosmetics business, died at Mountsinai Hospital yesterday at the age of 91.

Woodbury, who retired 31 years ago, had only a year of formal schooling. The soap and beauty aids developed and promoted by his company, Woodbury, Ltd., made his name a household word the world over.

Starting in the days when respectable women made no use of "store-bought" makeup and improvised home products, Woodbury founded nearly 2,000 beauty shops.

MRS. EISENHOWER SUBMITS TO SURGERY DURING DAY AT THE WALTER REED HOSPITAL

Washington (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower underwent an operation today for a "benign" condition. The White House said the operation was "not serious."

The First Lady, 60, was reported to be in "good condition" following the surgery.

The operation was performed at Walter Reed Hospital by an Army gynecologist, Dr. Humbert L. Riva.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Mrs. Eisenhower entered the operating room about 8 a. m. and the surgery was concluded two hours later.

While the operation was in progress, the President was meeting at the White House with Republican congressional leaders.

Soon after the operation, Mrs. Eisenhower was able to talk with the President by telephone. He had talked with her last night by phone and again this morning before her operation. Hagerty said the President would visit her this afternoon.

Hagerty said he was not able to describe the actual nature of the operation beyond saying it was for a "benign" condition, that it was not a tumor.

Hagerty said it has been known for "quite a little time" that the First Lady would require surgery. He added that it was not an emergency operation and that Mrs. Eisenhower had not been in pain.

Her son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, and his wife, spent most of last evening with her at the hospital.

Hagerty read newsmen the following announcement just as the meeting of the President and the congressional leaders was breaking up:

"Mrs. Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital yesterday. This morning she underwent an operation for a benign condition."

"The operation, performed by Dr. Hubert L. Riva, was successful."

"Mrs. Eisenhower's condition is good."

Hagerty said he did not plan to issue any medical bulletins on her condition. He said, however, he would make it known immediately if any complications developed.

Mrs. Eisenhower returned Saturday from a week's visit to Denver. She appeared to reporters there to be feeling well, but was accompanied on the trip by the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

In Denver she took part in a new Mamie Doud Eisenhower Park. The ceremony was cut short in order to save the physical strain on Mrs. Eisenhower on an extremely hot day.

Eisenhower himself has said Mrs. Eisenhower's health is not as robust as might be wished and she has led a less active life in the White House. At various times she has rested in bed for several days.

She is known to have suffered some impairment of the heart as the result of an undiagnosed illness many years ago.

Letter From Our Community Ambassador in Switzerland

August 1
Dear Friends,
To begin this letter may I sincerely thank each one of you for making it possible for me to be in now in one of the most magnificent places on earth. Truly one does not know the meaning of the phrase "I'm sitting on top of the world" until he has viewed the world from the Swiss Alps. The Alpine pastures are just as the storybooks picture them, the peasants making hay on the steep slopes, the cows higher up whose every movement is accompanied by melodious clanks, and even higher the jagged, snow-capped peaks.
Yesterday morning our group, 18 girls and 3 boys, started out at 7:30 a. m. to tackle one of these peaks. We reached the line above which no timber can grow about 9:30. Above us stretched meadows strewn with multitudes of brilliantly colored flowers. The higher we went the smaller and more exquisite the flowers became. The weather here was like autumn, we felt quite comfortable in sweaters, yet all put on lotion to prevent sunburn.
We stopped at a hut where cheese was being made. The 3 men and 2 boys lived there during the summer, milked the cows, and made about 7 cheeses a day. We had a taste of cheese one week old. (I didn't care for it.) It was very mild and rather sour. Shortly after we stopped for a standard hiker's lunch, brown bread, cheese, tomatoes, and chocolate.

Defense Maintains No Park Ever Existed; DA Claims the Act Was Criminal Regardless

The legal battle lines were drawn around beleaguered "Pittsfield Memorial Park" in Warren County yesterday afternoon. The tranquil "village green" at the corner of Constitutional Avenue and Prospect street had its reputation impugned from all angles as both plaintiff and defense attorneys produced a string of witnesses who claimed alternatively that the triangular patch of land either was or was not a park.

The procession of witnesses trailed after three hours shortly past five and Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., ordered the hearing to resume at 1:30 p. m. today.

Attorney C. Henry Nicholson, defense lawyer, produced a string of six old time Pittsfield residents and visitors who claimed that in their trips to the disputed land area they had never once heard it referred to as a park. Nicholson climaxed his defense Monday with the introduction into evidence of a 1949 deed plot which showed no "village green" or "park" listed in Pittsfield early in the century.

Nicholson is handling the appeal of Robert Lynn of Jamestown who is fighting a peace justice conviction where it was claimed he is guilty of destroying public property. Lynn was fined $50 and given 30 days in jail after the prosecution claimed that on June 9, 1949, he destroyed a bench built behind a veteran monument erected on the property of Emmett Lynn in 1949. Robert Lynn inherited the property from his father in 1953.

On the other battlefield was District Attorney Myer Kornreich who maintained that despite older Pittsfield residents or visitors not recalling that disputed area as a public park, the patch of land had become so after the monument was dedicated in 1949. When the bench was placed there by the supervisor's order and then destroyed, this constituted destruction of public property, according to the DA.

The case will continue today and legal niceties will probably play a large part in the judges opinion.

District Attorney Kornreich claims that in a criminal action Lynn is guilty of destroying public property because that patch of land was considered a "park" after 1949 when the monument was dedicated. However, this raises the question of just how much of a person's property may be preempted for public use when no definite lines have been established. Carried to a far-fetched extreme the bench might have been placed right at the Lynn homestead and destroyed.

And, of course, on the opposite end, Attorney Nicholson contends that no public park ever existed except in the minds of a few public spirited individuals in Pittsfield such as Henry Danielson. Defense witnesses Mrs. Ray Lightner of Irvine, Mrs. Luella Burgess of North East, Mrs. Merrie Cass of South Harborside and Mrs. Mattie Wedlock and Stanley Wedlock of Jamestown all maintained that long ago there was no such thing as a "village green" at the west tip of the Lynn property. This was also corroborated by Charles McIntyre who formerly owned the property before selling to Emmett Lynn in 1913.

However, the DA had introduced into evidence the most recent deed of the property in which Emmett Lynn himself, the former owner, referred to the west boundary as bordering the "village park". But no definite line was established and William Bevevino, registered surveyor testified that when he was called to survey the plot and make a rough sketch of property lines which might have been agreed upon for settlement of the dispute, such surveying would have been impossible without four property owners agreeing first on existing fences and road lines as markers. They were Robert Lynn, Henry Danielson, the Cloughs, and Mr. Wolfe, representing United Brethren church which bounds the Lynn property on the South.

Still another legal aspect was added to the case at its onset when Nicholson took exception to the legislative act of 1861 which covers the damage of ornaments in public and private gardens. Taking advantage of what could have been a typographical error nearly a century ago, the defense attorney showed that additional legislation that same year referred to previous act of March 30th rather than March 13th, and commented further that the county of Warren was "conspicuously absent" from the list of additional counties to be covered by the act.

Kornreich countered this with a

Guernsey Breeders Of County Enjoy Annual Field Day

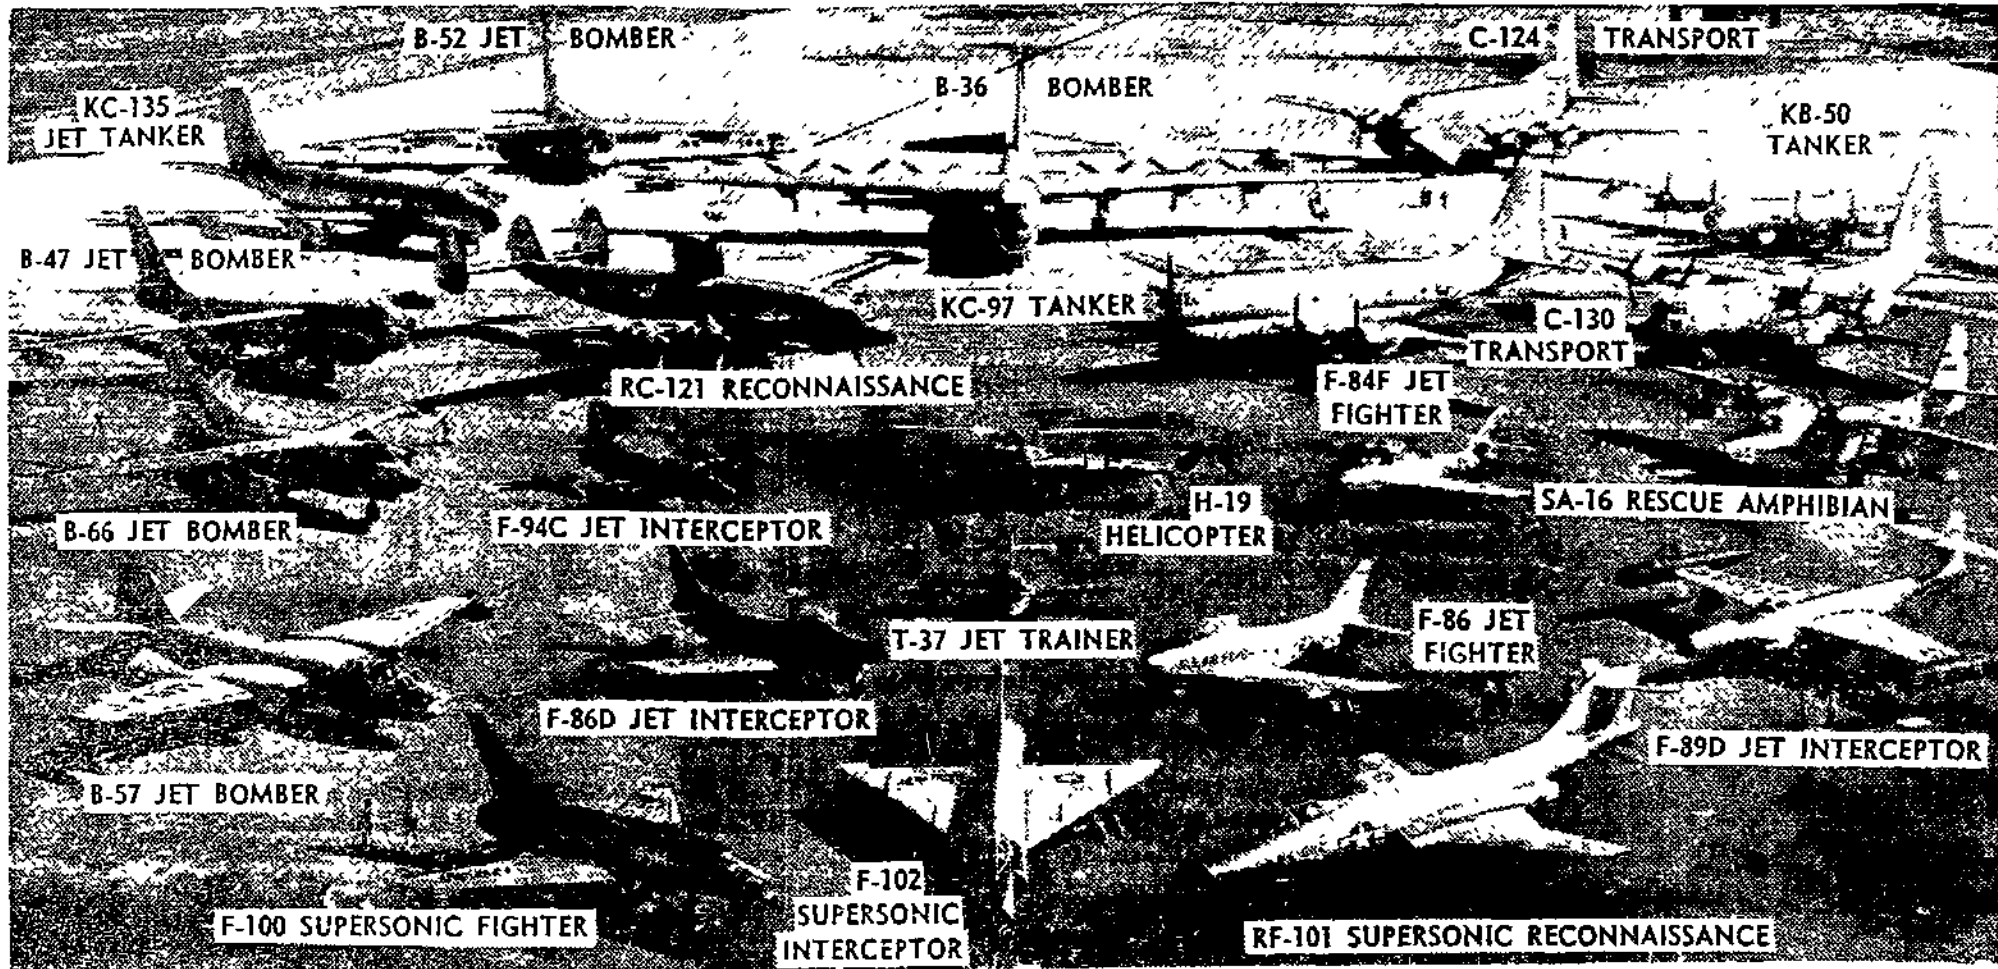

The annual Warren County Guernsey Field Day held on Friday, August 2, at John Nordin's farm near Scandia was attended by a large group of Guernsey breeders and their families from Warren and McKean counties, according to Bernard Wingert, assistant county agent.

The forenoon was spent observing the herd and inquiring about the operation of Nordin's dairy enterprise. A sketching and judging contest was held with the following persons winning prizes: In sketching, Robert Scott, Lottsville; in the men's division, Gilbert Scott won in the boys' division, and Jane Burgett, Lander RD. finished first in the ladies' division.

Outstanding cattle judges in the same divisions were William Hinsdale, Sugar Grove; Gilbert Scott again winner in the boys' division and a tie for first place in the ladies' division was held by Jane Burgett and Mrs. Alfred Atkins Chandelers Valley.

At noon the group enjoyed a tureen dinner at the Scandia Grange Hall. Following the meal, Don Ace, dairy specialist from Penn State University, spoke to the group on "Raising Calves from Birth to Freshening". Don presented some new ideas on calf raising which should result in stronger, healthier, well grown out animals for herd replacements.

The meeting ended with a few remarks from Wade White, Western Pennsylvania Guernsey Fieldman. Mr. White urged the group to attend the Guernsey Field Day being held at Windy Hill Farms near Titusville on Saturday, August 10.

Jehovah Witness Missionary Relates in Letter of Ordeal In the Dominican Republic

(Editor's note: What follows is the full text of a letter from Miss Dorothy Lawrence, a Jehovah's Witness missionary who was one of ten ordered expelled from Dominican Republic last week. In it she describes the persecution and brutality which has befallen members of the religion in that Caribbean dictatorship. Miss Lawrence has since informed Warren friends that she has landed safely in San Juan, Puerto Rico.)

Dear Folks,

Just think—three nights before the fatal day! It has been terrible here since July 3 (Wednesday), when Leonard was called to the General's office in which he said, "Nellie and Genge (missionaries who traveled to the main land) couldn't come back. The following Monday we were all called and told we must leave or if we stayed we had to sign a paper saying we would never preach, never use the Bible, never quote a scripture or have contact with society—and if we did we would be deported on next plane. Naturally everyone said that it would be impossible for Bible says, "Woe to me, if I don't preach" (Cor. 9:16) so the General said he would give us 'til the 31st. This general was the consul in New York City and arranged everything for the killing of Galinda so you know what type man he is.

Well, it has been terrible since then when the brothers knew we were leaving they came here and our house has been like a funeral parlor—especially the sisters who feel like sheep without a shepherd and you can imagine how we all feel—just dead like inside because many cry and it makes you feel terrible. But the worst part of all which makes us shudder is the Government has begun a program of terror! They began in January with one brother who was convicted of subversive activities. Many another was convicted of same and as a communist. Then list of July 4 more of the same sentenced (subversive and Communists) two years imprisonment. Then they gathered the brothers in the mountains from little towns, treated them terrible—four were knocked unconscious. Others they bruised their testicles treated women had also some say the clothes were taken off of them and in one town 28 Witnesses renounced they were J. W.'s and would go back to the Catholic faith because they saw the terrible treatment and didn't think they could stand it. The government has done nothing yet here in the capital city to gather J. W.'s together as yet—everyone says to leave and then comes the attack here in Ciudad Trujillo. The General told us they were going to liquidate or exterminate J. W.'s here in this country. He says when we are gone the work will die. Now a law was passed this morning by President to prohibit all activities of J. W. Really our hearts just ache for the brothers! The ones Kath and I had all say they will never deny the faith but these men here are animals no other name fits. Oh I have so much to tell you.

Now the thing which keeps us all upset, too is that the General thinks we are going peacefully the 31st by our own will—but Knorr (missionary director) says we must be deported. That is the Government must pay our way and we have to be escorted to the plane. Knorr says we might even have to go to jail but that he would fight it from the states. So we don't know what's ahead—it is not an agreeable thing in these latin countries. We are shipping all our things ahead except one big suitcase with all our clothes etc. Hope we have time to pick them up. The suspense is hard but all are willing to go through with anything to further the fight. Don't send any more letters until you hear from me. I received Sis' today after she received Dorothy's letter from Cleveland.

There is so much to say but I will write when I land in Puerto Rico, when and if, Ha! Dot and Russell know nothing of what is happening.

"LACERATED HEART"

Jamestown Sun's Chautauque County Coroner Frederick E. Mattison late Monday disclosed that a lacerated heart caused the death of Joseph Miletta, 55-year-old Jamestown restaurant operator, killed in an auto crash at the intersection of the Bust-Stillwater and Kiantone roads Sunday night. Mattison, however, said he is continuing to withhold a death certificate until police complete their investigation of the crash, which injured six of 12 persons involved. Assistant District Attorney Sidney T. Hewes said Monday night he is awaiting results of an investigation by the Sheriff's Department. The Sheriff's Department said it had nothing to report. Sheriff Charles C. McCloskey, Jr., was reported confined to his home by illness and could not be reached. Mattison said the cause of death was determined by an autopsy performed at WCA Hospital by a pathologist Monday morning. Ribs, fractured when his chest was crushed, lacerated Miletta's heart and brought almost instant death, Mattison said.

Some Statistics
Regarding State's Fishermen Paradise

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission's "Fisherman's Paradise" along Spring Creek near Bellefonte in Centre County, played host to 40,992 fishermen and gave up 8,438 large trout during its 24th season which came to a close on July 20.

Though both figures are below the records set last year when 46,637 anglers took 9,828 "lunkers" Dewey Sorenson, superintendent of hatcheries for the Commission stated that this year's totals compare favorably with earlier years. He also disclosed that this season produced one of the largest fish taken in recent years—a rainbow trout measuring 29 1/4 inches, weighing 11 1/2 pounds. It was caught by Fred Williams of Gettysburg.

Other record fish taken during the special 9-week season which opened on May 17 included a 25-inch brown trout weighing 7 1/4 pounds caught by Violet Koppenhaver of Duncansville, and an 18 1/4 inch brook trout, weighing 3 1/4 pounds caught by Mary Davidson of Mahanoy City.

Also of note this year, according to Sorenson, was the initial introduction of "Tiger" trout, an experimental cross between the brook and brown trout. Honors for the largest of the new species are shared by F. S. Schmucker of Rockwood with a 23 inch, 4 pound 9 oz. specimen and George Sprankle of Punxsutawney, with a 22 1/4 incher that weighed an even five pounds.

"One of the interesting sidelights produced at the Paradise this year," said Sorenson, "were the numbers of counties and states represented among the visiting fishermen. Our summary of this and several other factors are not yet completed but on a spot check made about mid-season, there were only a few counties not represented and we checked in fishermen from at least seven states and two Canadian provinces."

JUVENILE CRIME

Almost every time new figures are printed showing increases in juvenile crime, reminds Bruce Biosat in an editorial written for NEA Service, somebody hastens to point out that most young Americans are okay. He has it figured out this way:

Of course there isn't any doubt of this at all. Those who feel it necessary to re-emphasize this fact constantly are evidently convinced that the crime statistics paint too black a picture.

Perhaps they do. But it is also possible that the steady stress on the normal behavior of most U. S. youngsters tends to lull people into a mood of complacency which ill suits the seriousness of the juvenile crime problem.

The fact is that youthful crime has been on the sharp upgrade for a long time. Leading law enforcement authorities, including FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, have declared flatly that offenses committed by young persons actually constitute THE major crime problem in America today.

In the fact of this, it does not mean a great deal to repeat periodically that most kids don't commit crimes. Neither do most adults, but persistent and substantial gains in the adult crime rate could hardly be passed off as not of notable consequence.

Most experts believe there has already been altogether too much general indifference toward the matter, and don't wish to see more. What is needed is action—action that goes beyond treating surface evidences and searches out the deep causes of juvenile misbehavior.

The scientists are coming to believe that they lie well below such levels as the "broken home," that they are to be found in the whole baffling complexity of our life today: Its mobility, thinning veneer of social disciplines, shifting standards, urban crowding and tense competition for space and for money as the key to material things.

We must examine intently what kind of world we are building. Economically it is astonishing. But unless it is equally promising socially and morally, our society may be heading for really grave trouble.

We cannot afford to shut our eyes to the warning signs represented by increased juvenile crime. To ignore them may be to encourage in the whole population a moral corrosion that could be destructive of the values we treasure most in American life.

Matter Of Fact: Who Really Won?

By STEWART ALSOP

Washington—There are times—they are very rare—when a scene worth remembering, a moment of real drama and meaning, occurs on the Senate floor. There was such a moment last week, when the Senate, in the small hours of the morning, passed the jury trial amendment to the Civil Rights bill—a vote which will surely affect the political balance of power for a long time to come.

It was a scene of a sort that occurs only once or twice in a decade—every fit senator on the floor, and the galleries choked with spectators, as the hands of the big Senate clock crept on past midnight. All present, spectators and senators alike, were caught up in the excitement of the great Senate game.

A man's pulse can be quickened, after all, by a close contest at chess, or on the golf course. But there is nothing quite like the Senate game, in which great issues can be decided by a sudden parliamentary maneuver, or a quick, sure sensing of the Senate mood.

The game that was played out on the Senate floor last week was, moreover, a peculiarly personal contest. There were many speakers, but the floor was wholly dominated by two big men, stationed cheek by jowl on the center aisle—big, chunky, earnest Minority Leader William Knowland, and Lanky Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, the shrewdest Congressional leader of this generation.

They made a fascinating contrast. Knowland sat stolidly, like a great cornered bull, his enormous forehead furrowed in parallel wrinkles, fore-tasting defeat. Johnson sat back easily, his long legs negligently crossed, when he was not moving restlessly about. Once, when Everett Dirksen of Illinois, rose to support Knowland with his special brand of empty grandiloquence ("I have been thinking much of Runnymede") Johnson half-yawned, and lazily scratched his chest, in a magnificent gesture of casual confidence.

Only a few hours before, Knowland thought he had won the game. He had the votes to beat off the crucial amendment, and everybody knew it. But Knowland, like an over-anxious golf player on the last hole of a close match, began to press too hard.

By insisting on twelve-hour sessions, and by other means, he brought pressure on the Senate for a quick vote. The Senate a leisure-

Here and There

Here's a sample of the type of wastepaper fodder that arrives in the weekend mail: 'Take an inventory of your summer underwear. If you have nothing but boxer shorts in your drawer, and you plan, along with countless thousands of men, to wear walk shorts, you'd better consider adding some cotton knit briefs. Otherwise, you may be letting your slip below the hem line of your shorts. This advice is passed on by the Men's Fashion Forum of Cooper's, Inc., Kenosha, Wis.'

A columnist in one of our exchanges calls attention to the fact that the stars and other celestial bodies continue to put on a breath-taking show for those who will take the trouble to observe the changing face of the sky. During evening hours now, for example, the giant star Antares glows red in the sky, nearly due south. Just above Antares is the Solar System's most spectacular planet, gigantic Saturn with its rings. Antares is interesting to earth-bound observers because the giant star is about 400 million miles in diameter. Saturn is especially interesting when viewed through a telescope, for the planet's rings show up clearly in an instrument of moderate size. Also visible in a telescope are at least three of the planet's satellites. The Solar System's largest planet, Jupiter, named for the king of the mythological gods, also is visible during evening hours. After sunset, Jupiter appears quite high in the sky. Quite near the western horizon following sunset, glowing brightly even before the sky is dark, is Venus, the earth's nearest planetary neighbor which at times approaches to within about 26 million miles of earth. Those who view the skies through a telescope at an Observatory, or through other instruments, may see such fascinating celestial sights as the star cluster in the constellation Hercules and, after midnight, the Great Nebula in Andromeda, companion of our own Milky Way galaxy and believed to be similar to the Milky Way in structure.

During late evening hours the first two weeks of this month, and particularly after midnight, the annual Perseid 'shower of meteors' may be seen in the area of the constellation Perseus in the north-eastern sky. As many as 50 meteors an hour may be seen during the 'shower'.

From a special column entitled "Frills" by Byron Williams in the Warren Evening Times, Tuesday, August 6, 1957 comes the following humorous sidelights: "You always can tell a man who is complete master of his own house. He is a bachelor! . . . They are all dogs out at our house now. My wife is breaking a new bull pup from chewing the window curtains. P. S.—For 'breaking' substitute 'trying to break' . . . Ha, here is a snake story at last! A dozen rattlesnakes are reported to have taken possession of an express car on a Maryland railway the other day, driving the messenger out and running things smoothly until killed in a hand-to-hand fight with the train crew. Next! . . . An Iowa man had a cat that he did not want. Therefore, he took the cat 24 miles into the country, locked him in a barn and started for home. When he arrived home the cat was NOT there and what is more, has not come back at all! . . . A prominent YMCA workers says no young man can share a hymn book with a pretty girl and hear what the preacher is saying. Who in thunder cares what the preacher says when a fellow already is in heaven? . . . The trouble with most people is not that they haven't brains, but that they don't know how to use what they have. . . . I have never seen a pig pulling at a rope attached to his leg but I think of some married men I have known. . . . Some low-down Iowa jokers put a lot of cracker crumbs in the bride and groom's bed and then went out under the trees and 'snickered' . . . When I think of the above it makes me so mad I am going to quit work for today. There's no use trying to be a humorist with so many mean people in the world."

Mr. Ed Lowrey, Editor
Warren Times-Mirror
Dear Mr. Lowrey:

Last Thursday in your paper an article by Sam Dawson highlighted the shrinking dollar. Mr. Dawson goes on to say that the steel industry has been hit because of cost to replace a steel mill has soared since the war. Apparently Mr. Dawson wants his readers to shed tears for this industry.

While what he says is true, he fails to mention the excessive profits enjoyed by these steel mills. High profits despite reduced demand and reduction in production capacity. Back in 1939, the steel industry made 13c per manhour worked while today they make $2 per manhour worked. Has any worker enjoyed the same rate of increase in his wages for this same period? The last increase in steelworkers wages cost the steel industry $1 per ton and they raised their prices $6.00 per ton. It will be $10 before the year is over.

The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics have a more complete report than the Cost of Living Index. This report compares price increases with wage increases. According to this report, prices have increased at a higher rate than wages for every year since 1947. Now this is of course not news to any household having only one income or a fixed income. This trend has men worried because the purchasing power is now lagging too far behind productivity. Some economists say that the opposite is true, but they are only taking part of the report and twisting the figures for their argument.

Deaf Man Perfects Cordless Hearing Aid

Worn Entirely on One Ear

PEORIA, ILL. (Special)—H. A. Lyons, who himself has been hard of hearing for over 25 years, today announced the perfection of a miniature electronic hearing aid that is so small it is all worn on one ear.

It weighs but a fraction of an ounce and can be slipped on and off easier than a pair of eye glasses. Wearer gets all-directional pick-up and normal use of telephone. There is no clothing interference because it is worn at the ear, which is the natural way to hear.

Since the aid is tiny and is worn tucked behind the ear, it is practically invisible. Mr. Lyons stated that, although it is powerful enough to fit the most severe hearing loss, it can also be adjusted for the millions of slightly hard of hearing who feel they are not deaf enough to bother with the more cumbersome aids.

It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, to write to Tonemaster Manufacturing Company, 125 South Monroe Street, Dept. B-1, Peoria, Illinois, and he will be glad to send information at no cost or obligation to you.—Adv.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD DON SHERWOOD

Palms and candelabra, with baskets of white glads, snapdragons and carnations, decorated Grace Methodist church July 27 for the wedding of Mary Louise Chesnut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Chesnut of 108 Terrace street, to Richard Don Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sherwood, 3 Wood street.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:00 p. m. by the Rev. C. W. Baldwin, with Richard seated at the organ and Charles Smith, Port Allegany, singing "Talk Hand in Hand" and "I Love You Truly".

Wearing white chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta and carrying a colonial bouquet of white Sweetheart roses and delphinium, with shower of knotted streamers, the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father.

Her gown was styled with fitted bodice of lace, with applied lace medallions about the neckline of a portrait like, brief shirred sleeves complemented with lace mitts, and ruffled floor length skirt featuring scalloped lace in tunic effect. A crown of seed pearls held in fingertip veil of imported illusion and her pearl ear-rings were to be bridegroom's gift.

As maid of honor, Dorothy Ann undahl wore waltz length white gandy over pink taffeta, with black nylon hat and matching shoes, and carried a colonial arrangement of pink Sweetheart roses and white delphinium with blue streamers. Identically gowned and carrying like bouquets with blue streamers, bridesmaids were Mrs. Bonita Gilford, sister of the bridegroom, and Joyce Stoudt, Youngsville.

Completing the bridal party, William Long was best man; ushers were Larry Gilford and Tom Atlow.

The Mature Parent

Child Can't Explain Acts of 'Selfishness'

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

UNDER psychoanalysis a nervous, self-distrustful woman recalled a certain childhood experience.

For her sixth birthday she was given a coral pin. She loved it. One day her mother asked to borrow it. The child said no. Outraged, the mother called her a "selfish brat" and refused to speak to her for two days.

The patient, reliving this painful memory 30 years later, told her doctor, "My mother had a habit of giving things away. Or losing them. I feared that she would give away or lose my pin. So I didn't refuse it because I was selfish but because I was afraid of her carelessness. But I didn't dare tell her I thought her careless. I didn't dare even know I thought it. Her misjudgment of me that day founded my family reputation for 'selfishness'—the problem of my life."

I REPORT this story for a Mrs. M. who dislikes a recent column of mine about a mother who loaned a daughter's radio to a younger child without its owner's permission. When the daughter objected, she too was called "selfish."

Writes Mrs. M., "Selfish is what the girl was. Why shouldn't the mother have said so?"

Because such judgment is often misjudgment.

Like the patient who was driven to psychoanalysis to recover her stolen innocence, children are unable to give us their true reasons for refusing to share a belonging. It is more dangerous to diagnose the refusals as "selfishness" than it is to diagnose a physical disease we know nothing about.

A child's development of unselfishness is spiritual growth and is not our responsibility.

OUR baby arrives here already containing his power to love precisely as an acorn contains its power to become an oak tree. We did not endow him with this power. It's not our business to direct its development. When we interfere in his spontaneous growth into love by condemning him as "mean" and "selfish," we show ourselves to be as foolish as we'd be to rail and scold the acorn for refusing to expand itself.

If parents feel it necessary to do God's work for Him, I can't see why they bother believing in Him.

Pomona Grangers Have Fine Speakers' Group

The third quarterly session of Warren County Pomona Grange was held in the Stoneham community building, entertained by Diamond Grange of Tiona, whose members served both lunch and dinner.

Worthy Master David Curtis, Columbus, presided over the all-day activities.

Featured during the day was an address by Charles Tranter, who explained to the assembly the operations and aims of the Warren County Development Association, Inc. Also addressing the gathering was Frank O'Neil, of the Department of Revenue's Bureau of Highway Safety; and Richard Porter, member of the Pennsylvania State Grange youth committee, addressed the convocation during the evening session.

Resolutions were adopted during the session in which the Pomona Grange went on record as favoring an increase from the present $600 for individual federal income tax deductions to at least $700, opposing the release of American military personnel on foreign soil to the jurisdiction of any foreign court; and opposing the granting of unlimited powers to municipal water authorities.

It was announced the four-county Grange picnic this year will be held Saturday, August 10, at Bucktail Recreation Area near Franklin. Venango County Pomona Grange to be host for the affair. Also announced was the Pomona youth meeting at Farmington Grange August 15 and the Pennsylvania State Grange Youth Camp August 16, 17 and 18.

Widow Wants Friendship, Not Her Friend's Husband

"LADY, I don't want your husband—just your friendship."

A widow says she wishes she could convince her women friends of that.

She writes: "Why will a friend or acquaintance suddenly develop a fear of a widow? One can know a friend for years and suddenly there is a coolness. Surely, if one has known a woman for years as a person of character and integrity that woman isn't going to turn into a siren just because she has lost her husband and is a woman alone."

"A widow's loneliness is greater than she can express, and if she ever needs the loyalty and trust and affection of her friends it is when she is trying to build a new life for herself."

"If a woman never showed other than a friendly interest, as a courtesy to her friend, in her friend's husband, her attitude isn't going to change just because she is a widow."

"The type of woman who will make a play for a friend's husband would have done so during her own husband's lifetime. Furthermore, the few husbands (and they are in the minority) who think a widow is fair game are the type no wife can trust alone with any woman."

JUST FRIENDSHIP

"NO widow with common sense wants to infringe on her friends' privacy with her husbands. All the widow wants is to keep her old friends, occasionally to be invited to their homes, included in some of their parties—not to be dropped completely from their lives."

"According to statistics, today's wife has a good chance of being tomorrow's widow. Because so many women do outlive their husbands, I, as a woman already widowed, feel it is important to all women that women develop a greater sympathy and understanding of a widow's unfortunate position in life."

"But above all, I wish widows could convince wives that we don't want their husbands—just their own loyalty and continuing friendship."

The Architecture Professor Foresees: A Trend Back to Two-Story Homes

BY ALICIA BART
NEA Staff Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(NEA)—"If you push nature around, it will push back eventually."

A conservationist talking? No. A woman who spends most of her busy life plotting man-made edifices on nature's landscape.

Mrs. Christine F. Salmon is a practicing architect who really practices. In addition to maintaining her regular business, she will soon begin her eleventh year as an associate professor of architecture at Pennsylvania State University. She is also a consultant for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, for whom she designs buildings for the physically handicapped.

In addition she architects the development of two daughters, ages nine and six.

And she is doubly wedded to her profession; her husband, E. Cuthbert Salmon, is also an architect. They are business as well as marital partners and share their teaching and consulting roles, too.

UNLIKE MANY architects, Mrs. Salmon does not name as her pet peeve the impractical woman client who can't understand why she can't have that window just where the conduits ought to be. She saves her wrath for the professional builder who refuses to "respect nature and to be sensitive to the contour and natural beauty of the site."

"It may be exciting for a builder to move in heavy equipment and clear the place flat and build row on row of one-story houses," she says. But they turn out to be a blot on the landscape. "And with just a little more care the houses could be adjusted to the contour of the land and more trees retained." She is speaking, mind you, of the inexpensive, so-called development houses, as well as those of the carriage trade.

Better living would result, she feels, if builders, architects and landscape architects would work together more. And it would be more permanent. Already, in many new development sections, "the floors are heaving, the lumber is shrinking and the roofs are leaking."

BY 1975, Mrs. Salmon predicts, some trends will be reversed. If the preference for large families continues, the two-bedroom home may become as obsolete as the upswamp hairdo. Houses will have to be larger. And as building sites get

Although it is a statistical fact that the price the average family spends for their medicines is now a lesser percentage of their total income than it used to be ten years ago, it is also a fact that their benefits are now much greater.

Modern prescriptions are really a great value because they help you to get well so much more quickly that you are sick only days, instead of weeks. Their price is low compared to their value.

Second Increase in FHA Interest Rates Is in Effect Today

Washington (AP)—A rise in FHA interest rates, the second in eight months, brought talk today of congressional action to limit any further increases.

The Federal Housing Administration made effective today an increase from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent in the maximum interest rate on home mortgages it insures. The rate was boosted last December from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Along with the higher rate, FHA also announced yesterday lower down payments on homes financed with government-backed mortgages. The biggest reduction applies to houses in the $10,000-$25,000 class.

Lowering of FHA down payments was greeted generally with approval in Congress. But the interest boost immediately drew the fire of Democrats who have been critical of administration monetary policies.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the Housing subcommittee of the House, said "Congress must re-study the whole FHA program." He raised the possibility he would seek to fix a lower FHA rate ceiling.

Ed Stokes

lurely by Ed, and he admitted today that when in a hurry it is faithful Mabel who puts him together. Eating is difficult also. Says Ed: "I could eat better the old way" (meaning when he had only stubs to contend with).

To understand the difficulty of eating, his new mechanical arms must be understood. There is a cotton twill figure 8 shaped strap across the back. Then plastic cuff-like coverings descend over the stubs to Ed's elbows which are of the famed "Hosmer" variety.

A curved hook which opens with a non-skid rubber surface is at the end of each arm. This is opened by a cable which runs up the arm and is attached to the back web. By exerting pressure on this (by moving the arm forward) pressure is put on this cable which pulls open the two prongs which join to form the curved hook.

The joint at the elbow can be locked into any one of several slightly varying positions for differing heights wanted. The difficulty of eating (and in fact most of the mechanical motions) is keeping the arm forward of the body so that the hook remains usable and then bringing the food to the mouth, remembering that the arm can only turn laterally until the stub stubs inside its socket, and can only be raised with one motion which, as the fork remains on its original plane, tends to slide food onto the lap.

It's a struggle but Ed is confident he'll make it, and so is everyone who knows him.

This summer he occupied himself with running a tractor in a garden and hand mowing. He swapped his tractor for a Ford model which has a hydraulic joint in the rear to connect other devices with minimum effort.

One notable achievement, done even before he had the mechanical arms and hooks, was attaching an automatic washer, doing all the plumbing in an inaccessible corner position under a sink. Said Ed: "I wouldn't care to do it again."

But it kept him busy in the same manner that his new arms are now keeping him occupied every minute. Ed surprised the doctors by being able to slip in and out of his "harness" contraption the first thing and keeping at it he should be fairly adept with them in two or three months.

The amendment, sponsored by O'Mahoney and others, would require such trials in all federal court cases involving criminal contempt. These cases arise where a judge desires to punish a defendant who fails to comply with the court's order or complies too late to make it effective.

President Eisenhower has been represented as likely to veto the measure unless this provision is limited to voting rights cases.

heart" contract—a term applied to contracts in which union officials and employers reach terms to benefit themselves but which afford few benefits for the workers.

Lehrer said "I agree it was a very 'soft' contract" which would mean little to the dues paying employees. Caustically, he added it was "very favorable to the employer in a one man shop who had no need for it in the first place."

Lehrer said the contract, which called for payments ranging upward from $190 a year from shops and their employees, brought the association immunity against "jurisdictional" disputes in which rival unions would place picket lines around their plants and thus shut off delivery of glass for installation.

Judge Edward G. Bar of Westmoreland County Court the seven for contempt of court, fined them and sentenced them to five-day jail terms.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court upheld the fines but disallowed the jail sentences, stating the ban was violated only for the purpose of initiating a test case.

The U. S. Supreme Court then refused to review the decision and the two newspapers went into S. District Court.

Honored Home Advantage May Prove To Be Deciding Factor In Hot National League Race

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

With less than eight weeks remaining, that bustling National League pennant race may have a strange windup. The honored home advantage may prove to be like Jonah and the whale—it ain't necessarily so.

St. Louis, in first place by half a game, has more games remaining on the road (29) than at home (22). But the Cards are tops in the league with a 30-18 road mark for a .625 percentage.

Second-place Milwaukee has 25 left at home, 25 left on the road—but it shouldn't matter either way. The Braves are exactly the same at home (21-21) as away.

Brooklyn's third-place Dodgers are best at home with a 31-20 record and play 26 of their remaining 50 at Ebbets Field. But that home bulge is padded with a 16-4 record against the tailenders and the remaining 26 games in Ebbets are split evenly among contenders and the three-team second division.

Cincinnati splits its remaining 50 at home and away, with a 20-22 record at Crosley Field and a 28-24 mark abroad. Philadelphia has 26 remaining at home, 23 away, but the Phillies have been only slightly better in Connie Mack

★ GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD ★

While Baseball Talks Shifts, Pro Football Stands Pat

By HARRY GRAYSON, NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If you're suffering from the heat, think of the poor professional football players. They're getting their thumbs up with rising thermometers on college campuses stretching from Olean, N.Y., to Eagle Rock, Calif. For this is the conditioning period for the 12 members of the National Football League.

While baseball owners talk franchise shifts, the pro football squabblers happily stand pat and prepare for the early rush of business in preseason "exhibition" games. They foresaw and took full advantage of the California gold rush 11 years ago, you see.

Attendance was up again last season, when all but two clubs made money and the Philadelphia Eagles' loss was negligible. The Giants averaged 51,000 for seven home games, for a 60 per cent increase in attendance, thanks to a championship club and moving across the Harlem River from the Polo Grounds to Yankee Stadium.

THERE WILL BE 26 "exhibition" games in 18 states, starting with another turnout of 90,000 for the meeting of the Giants and the College All-Stars at Soldier Field, Chicago, Aug. 9. Cleveland is in Detroit on Wednesday night, Aug. 14, and all hands swing into action that weekend. The hired help is still being paid off in the dark for these "exhibitions," which enabled owners to meet payrolls in rougher days.

The championship grind starts Sept. 29, and runs through the World Championship Playoff at the home of the Western Conference titleholder, Dec. 29.

The preseason consensus of people who should know has the Giants and Bears playing off again, with the Chicago side on much more solid ground than the New York despite the latter's resounding victory in the battle in the cold for the big prize last Dec. 30.

BEHIND THE GIANTS in the Eastern Conference are placed, in the order named, Cleveland, the Chicago Cardinals, Pittsburgh, Washington and Philadelphia.

Ranked in back of the Bears in the Western are Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Green Bay and Baltimore.

The Lions acquiring the great pitcher and packer, Tobin Rote, from the Packers easily could change the two top positions in the Western. Even before the all-conquering Otto Graham called it a career with the Browns, the players rated Tobin Rote ahead of him as a quarterback. Bobby Layne never was far removed and now Buddy Parker has Rote to go with the veteran who is at an age where he is as brittle as he can be inconsistent.

Anyway, the money men are against bumping heads in order to make on the drive line.

Hot Stove Produces Many Pro Players

It has been said that the Warren Hot Stove League should produce many professional baseball players. This in itself is commendable but that is not the goal of the league. All boys would like to hit like Stan Musial, pitch like Bob Friend, or be the classy fielder that Phil Rizzuto is, and in the Hot Stove League they do just those things. For, playing in their class against boys of their own age, we see grade school, junior high, and high school counterparts of the big leaguers and at the same time they have a whole of a lot of summer fun playing the great game of baseball. Be at War Memorial Field this coming Saturday afternoon, August 10, for some great "All Star" Hot Stove performances beginning at two o'clock. (Rain date August 17th)

3,500 Fans Enjoy Glittering Card At Skyline Oval

Sugar Grove—An estimated crowd of 3,500 watched Joe Sauner of Jamestown roar around the Skyline Speedway track in a hurry to win the 50-lap midseason championship race Sunday night. The glittering card attracted some 75 competing cars.

Dean Layfield of Wellsville rolled into second place in the feature, followed over the finish line by Art Anderson of Jamestown and Bill Petty of Brookway.

The 20-lap jalopy feature was won by Phil Jackson of Titusville, tagged closely by Keith Lundmark of Russell.

Ray Little of Wrightsville won the first heat for the jalopy class and Jim Houser of Forestfield, Pa., zoomed to a win in the second heat.

Bud Schnars racked a victory in the first heat for new cars. Jim Fiebelkorn of Randolph hustled to victory in the second heat and Al Stearns of South Dayton captured third heat honors.

Art Anderson drove to triumph. Art Anderson drove a triumph came off the track with the winner's grin in the second semi.

A 25-lap feature for jalopies and a similar event for new cars is scheduled for the coming Sunday night. The contest for spectators, in which they may select the first three places will be continued. The prize to the winner is $50.

RACING
Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—Wing-Jet ($60.80) came from last to win the $17,975 Flash Stakes in the opening day at Saratoga by 1½ lengths.
Oceanport, N. J.—Lucky George ($11.60) captured the featured Mane McDonald Purse at Monmouth Park by a length over Honey's Tiger.

CLEATED COLOSSUS—Gil Mains appears ready to walk all over opponents of the Lions. The defensive end stands six-feet-three, weighs 235 pounds and knows his way around, but still has to fight to hold his job. The Detroit professionals are training at Cranbrook School in Birmingham, Mich.

KIWANIS VS. HOT STOVE WEDNESDAY
Members of the Warren Kiwanis Club, who have not already had a case of cold feet over the prospects of clashing with a Hot Stove League team in a baseball game, are reminded that they are supposed to be at War Memorial Field on or before 6:15 o'clock Wednesday evening for the important contest with the youngsters who challenged them at last week's meeting. This looms as "the battle of the season" at the field and it is expected there will be a large crowd in attendance. No admission, reserved seats for the early arrivals.

All Top-Name Golf Pros Gird for Richest Event

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago (AP) — Virtually all the top-name golf pros were girding themselves today for the start of the game's richest event the $101,200 "World" championship.

While they waited for practice rounds on the Tam O'Shanter course where the battle for a $50,000 first prize and $50,000 exhibition (four contract begins a 72-hole grand Thursday, talk centered on Gene Littler.

Littler's course record-matching 63 yesterday all but rubbed out

St. Nick's Arena Is Scene of Bloody Brawl of Battlers

By JACK HAND
New York (AP) — Storm flags were flying at old St. Nicholas Arena. Pigeons flew through the smoky air, raw eggs splashed into the ring and bloody spectators went to the hospital.

In the ring Danny Russo of Brooklyn was punching out a split decision over Eddie Lynch of New York in last night's eight-round feature. It was a real brawl with both boys cut around the left eye, almost as wild as the ringside scene.

Police sat near the neutral corners in case the decision produced a new outburst. There were cat-calls and boos but no brickbats.

Two New York spectators among the 1,405 paying $2,871 went to the hospital. They claimed they were hit by a flying chair. One had a scalp cut, the other a fractured nose.

Lynch, a local favorite has his pigeon loving fans who let them fly around the arena when he fights. This was a gala occasion, his first main event and his third fight since getting out of the Army.

A raw egg splattered on the working press during the pre-fight introductions.

Another egg squashed in mid-ring after the second round. The hen fruit prompted a warning from the New York State Athletic Commission's Inspector Joe Tepper "no more eggs or no more fight."

That did it. Even the firecrackers stopped popping. A man with a horn kept right on blowing.

At the end Judges Nick Gamboli (5-2-1) and Harold Barnes (4-3-1) voted for Russo who weighed 148 to Lynch's 151 pounds. Referee Barney Felix thought Lynch had the edge 4-3-1. The AP card was 5-3 for Russo. Russo now has a 11-3 record and Lynch 11-2.

the fact that Roberto de Vicenzo won the All American title.

It was Littler's last-round effort that drew the applause, and not De Vicenzo's final 70 which gave the hefty Argentine, now a club pro in Mexico City, a 72-hole tally of 273—15 under par—and the $3,500 first prize.

Littler's final round, equalling Lloyd Mangrum's mark set in 1948, ballooned him to second place with 277, worth $2,300.

Boudreau, Like Bragan,
May Hear News in Chicago

Kansas City (P)—Like Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Lou Boudreau may find Chicago is the end of the line in his job as a major league manager.

Boudreau will send his floundering Kansas City Athletics against the Chicago White Sox tonight in the opener of a three-game series in the Windy City.

It was there that the Pirates gave Bragan the heave-ho during a series with the Chicago Cubs last week.

Joe McGuff, baseball writer for the Kansas City Star, wrote from Chicago last night that if Boudreau "is dismissed the move probably will come here."

Only a sharp transformation of the Athletics into a fiery, winning ball club against the Sox can relieve the pressure on the personable 40-year-old Boudreau, according to rumors here.

The team has lost 12 of 14 games on its road trip—the last seven in a row—and acts as if it is living on tranquilizer pills.

Former Buc Manager
Not Long Unemployed

Pittsburgh (P)—Bobby Bragan wasn't among the unemployed very long.

Just last Saturday he was fired as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Yesterday he met with Julio Arcos Jr., general manager of the Almendares team in the Cuban Winter League, and signed to manage the club this winter for a reported $10,000.

Bragan said he didn't think he would have been fired if Branch Rickey Sr. had been general manager of the Pirates instead of Joe L. Brown. Rickey resigned as general manager in 1955 and is now the Pirates' board chairman.

"I called Rickey six weeks ago," Bragan said. "He told me to sit tight and he'd have a talk with Joe and try to make things more amicable between the two of us."

Only Three Unsigned as Steelers Open Training

Olean, N. Y. (P)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League opened training at St. Bonaventure University with only three players unsigned.

The team hasn't received signed contracts from guard Dale Dodrill or tackles Ernie Stautner and Frank Varrichione.

A Steeler spokesman said he expects the trio to sign within a few days.

Fullback Fran Rogel turned in his signed contract yesterday.

Three Steeler draft choices won't join the squad until next weekend because they will play for the All Stars at Chicago Friday night. They are quarterback Len Dawson of Purdue, end Bill Michaels of Ohio State and tackle Don Owens of Mississippi Southern.

Sunray Electric downed Newell Press, 17-6 last evening on Winslow field in the Midget league. Senger, winning pitcher, had a homer and a triple for Sunray, Crosssett, double. A win for Newell Press would have given them a tie for the first half championship.

Plans Completed by School Music Boosters for Concert And Social Wednesday Night

A concert by the Warren High School Dragon Band and the Beaty Junior High Dugaree Band will climax the program arranged for Thursday afternoon and evening on the Beaty School lawn by the Warren School Music Boosters.

The organization has made elaborate plans for an ice cream social from 3:30 to 8:30 p. m., with the Band Concert beginning at 7.00 under the direction of Harry Summers.

Weather permitting, the entire program will take place on the lawn, moving into the school auditorium in event of rain. Any profits realized from the nominal donation for ice cream and cake to be served each guest will be used for the numerous projects sponsored by the Music Boosters.

A vital force, for the past 20 years, in the remarkable record of success which has been achieved by Warren School bands, choruses, and orchestras, the Music Boosters are composed of any community citizens who wish to give encouragement and support to the school music programs.

Warren is practically unmatched by any other community insofar as public appreciation of musical programs is concerned. In past years, the Boosters have provided a number of important aids to the school music goals which would be difficult or impossible to secure from the school budget. Many thousands of dollars have been raised to purchase special band uniforms and other equipment, to finance exchange concerts, to purchase recording equipment, and to send school music units to out-of-town athletic events as a support to team games.

The August 8 social will be the Boosters' main fund-raising project for the current school year and it is hoped many hundreds of Warren citizens will take part in the enjoyable occasion to support the school musical groups.

General Chairman Elaine Rader is being assisted by many other Warren women, including Bernice Harrington, Jetty Mathis, Louise Miller, Mary Helen Johnson, Lois Wendelboe, and Marie Sasseison.

Matter of Fact

ly body, does not like being subjected to pressure. Johnson, the master player of the Senate game, sniffed the Senate air, and played his hole card—a further amendment carefully tailored to attract the last of the waverers.

In the atmosphere of irritation created by Knowland's pressure, this was enough. John soon knew that he, and not Knowland, had the votes. With brilliant timing, Johnson turned the tables on Knowland, when he rose to support Knowland's own motion for limited debate and an immediate vote. Knowland was checkmated, and there was nothing he could do.

Johnson had predicted fifty votes for the jury trial amendment. He got fifty-one. On an issue which has divided his party as no other issue, he held all but nine Democrats, while Knowland lost twelve Republicans. The vote was a tribute to an authentic legislative genius and for Johnson a moment of supreme triumph.

And yet, how solid was the triumph? Who really won? Johnson won the great Senate game hands down. Yet in terms of national politics, it seems quite possible that Johnson, in winning, lost, and Knowland, in losing, won.

For those who become caught up in the excitement of the Senate game, it is easy to forget that the civil rights fight is all about. In hard political terms, the civil rights fight is all about the Negro vote in the key northern industrial states, where that vote can be absolutely decisive.

Negro voters interest themselves no more than white voters in the subtleties of parliamentary maneuver, or the complex legal and moral issues involved in the jury trial amendment. And yet, as a result of Lyndon Johnson's triumph, they have been treated to a spectacle which they are likely to interpret in only one way—the spectacle of the great bulk of the Senate Democrats siding with the bitter-end southerners, while a heavy majority of Republicans went down to defeat against them.

The Negro vote is the swing vote in a whole series of big states—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, California, to name a few. That is why one cynical observer remarked as the vote was counted, "the Democrats may elect a President again in 1960—but not before," and that could be the real meaning of the midnight scene on the Senate floor last week and the real measure of Johnson's triumph and Knowland's defeat.

Tax Department Heads After 2900 Delinquents in Counties; Total Amount Owed: $950,000

The local Internal Revenue Office is pursuing collection of approximately 2900 delinquent accounts involving taxpayers residing in Erie, Crawford, McKean, Venango and Warren counties.

John H. Bingler, district director of Internal Revenue for the office covering this area, and Anthony L. Carrea, Chief of the Collection Division, were in Erie today to implement a concentrated drive to effect collection of these delinquent accounts, many of which represent amounts owing on 1956 income tax returns filed on or before April 15, 1957, in connection with which the taxpayers neglected to remit the amount due with their returns and have also failed to pay the tax when billed. The amount involved in these accounts is approximately $950,000.00.

Mr. Bingler stated that "All of the collection authority contained in Internal Revenue laws will be used to accomplish collection of these accounts within the shortest possible period of time and at the lowest possible cost to the Government. This will result in many cases in levy on wages and bank accounts, and in seizures and sales of real estate, automobiles, and other property of the delinquent taxpayers." Mr. Carrea added that "Most of these delinquent taxpayers have already received two notices of the amount due and still have not made payment in full."

They were accompanied by Mrs. Kathryn Jensen and four other adults. Mr. Gavin said he is always pleased to have a visit with the Girl Scouts when they come to Washington and added that Warren can well be proud of this fine group of girls.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY... FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, right across the board, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.* Any way you look at it, Fords cost less to buy.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars, 24 cars in all... supervised every mile of the way by officials of the United States Auto Club. And when the rugged 1568-mile test was over, Ford led all other cars regardless of size, weight or price in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too!
